Council Tax to rise by £30

Increase in precepts from police plus county, district and town councils set to push band D charge up to £1,614

THE council tax bill for the average Haverhill resident is set to rise by more than £30 in the coming year.

The news comes after St Edmundsbury Borough Council announced plans to raise its portion of council tax on Tuesday – alongside rises planned by Suffolk County Council, Suffolk police, and Haverhill Town Council.

From April, families in Band D properties – which represent the average home – are set to be paying £1,614.19 in council tax, compared to £1,583.61 this year. The total rise for the average family is £30.58.

The new tax will be made up of four different precepts:

■ £1,149.03 for Suffolk County Council, a two per cent rise on last year's £1,126.53.

■ £178.72 for St Edmundsbury Borough Council, up just under two per cent on last year's £175.23.

■ £173.34 for Suffolk police,

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

also up just under 2 per cent, from £170.10 last year.

■ £113.10 for Haverhill Town Council, a rise of 1.2 per cent on £111.75 last year.

While Haverhill Town Council and Suffolk police precept rises have been finalised, the other two must still be discussed by councillors.

Suffolk County Council's full council will discuss the rise on February 11, while St Edmundsbury Borough Council's full council will make the final decision on its precept rise on February 23.

Suffolk County Council has not increased its council tax since 2010/11, but says the rise is required to pay for adult welfare services after cuts in government funding.

The rise in the borough council's precept is also the first increase St Edmundsbury has made to its portion of the tax in six years.

The rise is necessary, says the council, after a cut in the revenue support grant that the borough council receives from the county council.

In a similar way, the need for a rise in the town council's precept has been caused by the loss of £32,233 of support grant which has previously been paid to the town council by the borough council.

The rise in the police precept will add £830,000 to the police budget. Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore said the extra money would help the police "meet some of the financial challenge that we face in the coming financial year."

Having fun on the wild side

YOUNG people learned conservation techniques in Haverhill during a workshop with a park ranger.

Pupils from Castle Manor Academy headed down to East Town Park to learn how to coppice willow, clear scrub and repair a willow woven fence from park ranger Ben Pumfrey.

The willow had not been coppiced for nine years and some of the branches were nine inches wide. Students battled through rain and mud to get the work done.

Some of the branches cut off were taken back to the school to build a willow fence, while the rest were used to repair a fence at the park.

DEVELOPMENT

APPLICATION: An artist's impression of the proposed development

Call for town traffic survey

COUNCILLORS are calling for a traffic survey and a pedestrian crossing – after concerns were raised about congestion and safety near a proposed retail park.

At a meeting on Tuesday night, Haverhill Town Council's planning committee discussed a planning application to construct a Lidl, Pets at Home, Home Bargains and one other store on the site of the old Project Office Furniture factory in Ehringshausen Way.

Although the councillors welcomed the proposal for the £5million retail park in the principle, they expressed concerns about the impact it would have on traffic and pedestrians.

They were worried that vulnerable pedestrians would be put at risk trying to cross busy Ehringshausen Way to get to the store.

Cllr Tony Brown, who has previously been involved in a campaign for a crossing outside Haverhill Sainsbury's, said from the audience: "I think we should definitely make sure we ask for a pedestrian crossing right at the beginning."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

"A lot of people live on the other side of the road. To see the people – the elderly, the infirm, the blind – who used to struggle to cross at Sainsbury's, I think that's really important."

Cllr Betty McLatchy pointed out that there would be a need for a bus stop outside the retail park, which would make a safe crossing route for pedestrians even more crucial.

Councillors also discussed how the site is near a new square proposed in the masterplan for the town centre, and so it may be an area which will see an increase in pedestrians in the coming years.

The lack of up-to-date traffic data for the area near the site was also discussed, as councillors voiced concerns the development could cause more congestion than at present along Ehringshausen Way.

Cllr John Burns, in the audience, drew councillors' attention to comments from Suffolk Highways on the application. He said: "They are basically saying that [the developers'] traffic survey is a waste of time because its based on six-year-old data."

A full automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) traffic survey of the town is something that councillors have asked for several times, including in relation to the large North-West Haverhill and Great Wilsey Park residential developments planned for the town.

Cllr Burns continued: "I think that if Suffolk Highways can get off their behinds and try and cover that now – we're talking about the [town centre] masterplan, the two big developments – then every company that builds has got that data available."

The planning committee agreed that it would support the planning application provided a number of conditions were met. These included the provision of a bus stop and a pedestrian crossing, a traffic survey being completed, as well as issues with lorry access and car parking.

The Haverhill Heroes Awards, run by the News alongside the Castle Partnership Academy Trust, were launched in October last year.

This is the first year the awards have been run, with the aim of celebrating community heroes who might otherwise go unrecognised.

Residents were invited to nominate their heroes in six different categories: business in the community, volunteer in the community, the young person's award, local food produce, the sporting award and the act of kindness award.

After receiving both paper and online nominations, and going through a judging process, we can now announce the shortlist of three finalists in each award category, listed below.

Judges considered all of the nominations and chose the shortlist based on how the nominees went

CUTS

Police chiefs to be quizzed over cuts

POLICE bosses will be held to account in a fortnight over heavy cuts to Haverhill's police service.

Haverhill councillors are preparing a list of questions for Suffolk Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore and Acting Chief Constable Gareth Wilson, who will be visiting Haverhill on February 18.

They are set to be quizzed on the £20million police cuts which will see Haverhill sharing an inspector with Sudbury and the front desk of Haverhill police station closing to the general public.

Although members of the public will not be able to ask questions at the lunchtime meeting with the police chiefs, everyone is invited to attend and see what they have to say.

The meeting will take place at 12.30pm at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Members of the public who have specific issues

HANNAH MIRSKY

they would like to see addressed are advised to get in touch with a town councillor, whose contact details are available on the Haverhill Town Council website. The elected representatives will aim to put residents' concerns before the police bosses.

In December, Suffolk police stated that after the cuts are implemented in April, Haverhill police station is set to have five PCSOs, including one match-funded by Samuel Ward Academy. This is a reduction from the current eight PCSOs.

However, details of staffing changes are still being finalised, and the most up-to-date figures on numbers of PCs and PCSOs at Haverhill police station are set to be announced in the coming weeks.

Suffolk police have confirmed that Haverhill will no longer have its own inspector after April, but will instead share an inspector with Sudbury.

They were not able to confirm whether the new inspector would be the current Haverhill inspector Peter Ferrie, current Sudbury inspector Danny Cooper, or someone else entirely.

It has been confirmed that the front desk of Haverhill police station will close, meaning that anyone who urgently needs to get in touch with the police will have to call 101 or use a phone attached to the outside of the police station which connects to the force control room.

The aim of the changes is for the force to save £20.5million and modernise its services by 2020.

Let's face it: we're a mess

ANY new housing development of any significance needs to have a lot of thought put into it and how it will affect the future.

Haverhill as always seems to shoot itself in the foot and worry about the consequences after.

History tells us that Haverhill couldn't cope when it became an overspill town, it had its chance and failed.

We are now in 2016, Haverhill Vision is only 15 years away, a long time you may think, but for Haverhill that does everything at a snail's pace, it's just around the corner.

When it arrives, those in charge might just as well emigrate, they could go now, better for all, put Haverhill into Cambridgeshire and we might get somewhere.

Regarding the Great Wilsey Park development, it might be this one or somewhere else in Haverhill, the answer is still the same, out of date infrastructure.

Whenever this topic raises its ugly head all we hear about is Cambridge and the A1307 "The Road of Death" and what impact it will have on it. What about the roads to Bury St Edmunds, Sudbury, Colchester, do they exist, exist or matter? Seems not.

Any forward thinking, prosperous town has two things going for it; proper roads and of course a railway. Haverhill has neither, the chance of getting either zero, zilch, no way and certainly not in your lifetime, your children's maybe but don't hold your breath.

Modern towns have the infrastructure first, development after, common sense really, but Haverhill and common sense is a bit like oil and water, it doesn't mix.

Trying to get Haverhill into the 21st century is like trying to get blood out of a stone, and as for a new relief road, millions needs to be spent, not the paltry sums now being used.

It's like chipping away at some grotesque statue in the hope that someone someday whose eyesight is diminishing with age will say "Well I suppose it's alright really".

The largest housing estate in Suffolk is what Haverhill is fast becoming.

How will it handle all that goes with the new developments: social housing, industry? With ever decreasing budgets how will the emergency services cope?

Having read about speeds that joyriders are doing, is Haverhill becoming "The Brands Hatch of Suffolk"? Fire services under strength as well as police, ambulance and doctors.

Are these the ingredients for Haverhill to implode on itself or have its first heart attack? Probably both.

We don't live in a world where PC George Dixon reassures the public with "Evening all" and all the fires are put out by Pugh, Pugh, Barney, McGrew, Cuthbert, Dibble, Grubb, though sometimes I feel that's how local government perceives us to be.

None of them really see what is real, to them it's all through rose coloured spectacles or the windows in Play School, sad really because Haverhill could be so much more, it isn't, and anyone with any say in Haverhill's future would rather people like myself just went quietly into the cold winter's night and be thankful for what I have.

Well perhaps if I'm really lucky and we do come out of Europe some of that £55million a day that we spend on just being there might see its way in getting here, no SAT NAV required.

Only then will Haverhill's vital signs show that there is a chance of a full recovery and the undertaker, well he can take his business elsewhere.

We shall see.

What about a tramway?

FROM the outset I hold up my hand and state no claim to being a transport systems expert but as the spotlight has swung to methods of travel between Haverhill and Cambridge has any group considered a tramway?

I understand Manchester, Hull and Croydon boast such systems which are measurably updated from the one I remember as a very young child whilst holiday making with my aunt in Grimsby.

A well-informed acquaintance estimated that compared to a rail link the costs would be around one tenth and surely laying a narrow gauge track would not be a blot on the landscape or present the problems Cambridgeshire experienced with the guided bus. I suspect most of the original rail route is intact though I believe there has been some infilling and bridge demolition. Not, I would have thought, insurmountable difficulties.

Having travelled on the Welsh Mountain Railways and the Devon Tramway which winds through the wetlands of the River Axe it seems logical that the tram could possibly be a consideration to solve the increasing headache of local traffic congestion.

Current furore revolves around the plan to erect 2,500 houses on a site in Haverhill which many residents feel inappropriate especially as it creeps dangerously close to what can only be classified as a rural village and then add to this the traffic which pours out of Essex each weekday morning.

Good luck to all the inhabitants of the villages adjacent to the A1307 – the future appears to be looking extremely frustrating and grim.

No way: that's too dangerous

LETTER sent to Cllr John Burns and Haverhill News regarding last week's story about speeding drivers:

FIRST and foremost, about wanting volunteers to stand around at night, writing down licence plate numbers to turn into the police. How can anyone suggest doing this? The people racing around are not nice people (they ARE doing illegal things).

You are asking people to stand around and be visible to these hoodlums and trust me, someone will be hurt (and it's not the racers). And why are these people being asked to do this anyway? It will do absolutely no good.

The courts will say, anyone can write random licence numbers down on a piece of paper and turn it in.

It is not worth the paper it was written on. Even taking photos of these licence plates won't do. This is yet another ploy to take the responsibility away from the ones that are supposed to be dealing with it.

And you don't think these hoodlums are 'dangerous'? You tell that to our friend whose son was among these hoodlums, got some of them angry with him, and his car was burned out.

This racing has been going on for years now...years and years. I believe it started in the Falconer Road area to hang out then race down and over to the bypass. It would start when work let out for the day and just carried on.

Then it spread to Hollands Road Industrial area... hanging out, trashing, breaking windows and racing. Now, as nothing was done about it, they are racing in housing areas, High Street, Swan Lane (yes, right past the police station). All night long, they are racing. I can hear them all over. I have seen them racing along Swan Lane and into the market square (not even on the road anymore, early evening).

There is a four-wheel motorcycle (quad bike?), that loves to find open space along Ehringshausen Way.

I have seen him racing in front of the cinema and on down the road towards Tesco and back...and when he has a half a chance, he does it on two wheels! That's doing stunts right in town! I have seen them going through the bus station. You can see their tyre marks in the grass along paths all over the place. And it is not just at night anymore. Cars, motorcycles, even a 'dune buggy'. You might ask, why hasn't someone mentioned this before? Well, people have. And you wouldn't believe the answers we get. Things like 'Well, they have to get to work, don't they', 'Are they bothering you?' and 'They are not hurting anybody'.

Would you believe, from police people.

It's a real shame something wasn't done years ago before it got so bad, and we had more police available.

What to do now? I haven't a clue, but something needs to be done to stop this. Someone is going to be killed... several. I am surprised it hasn't happened already, or maybe it has and I just don't know about it.

But, please, PLEASE, do not ask people to volunteer to go out and try to do something themselves.

It won't hold up in court and it is way too dangerous.

Name and address withheld

This is a good starting point

Reply from Cllr John Burns:

I THINK it is worthwhile pointing out that the report I made at town council was actually about speed data I had collected and analysed around the town.

From that, other councillors somewhat hijacked the discussion but one item mentioned was the police sponsored, and very much supported, Community Speedwatch Scheme.

It is a brilliant scheme, when setup correctly, but may not be relevant for Haverhill. It is not some sort of random exercise but all volunteers are fully trained and provided with relevant safety training and equipment.

Courts are not involved. The police can decide, if they want, to contact the vehicle owners and explain the errors of their ways. If things get no better then the next stage is police enforcement action.

You are quite right that with police cutbacks this will become somewhat of a rarity.

However the first stage is to identify where speeding does occur and when.

The data we have collected so far is certainly starting to show a trend but the "rules" state that we have to have quite a lot of consistent evidence before anything else will be done.

We all know the type of roads that people speed along, and perhaps even the types of drivers, but all we can do is start from a starting point and hope it gets better.

With some 3,500 extra houses being foisted upon us, without any obvious transport plan in place, this will only get worse unless we try to manage it.

As for apparent lack of police action all I can reiterate is to report the crime via 101.

The more calls they get the more crimes are reported.

Those statistics reflect back on the police and then action is often taken.

If everybody sits back and just shrugs it off, we will never get anything done.

Thank you for kind support

MAY I express my sincere and grateful thanks for the extraordinary support following the death of my husband, Tim Marks.

We moved to Haverhill in 2000 and Tim immediately became immersed in local politics and very quickly established positions on most strategic bodies, making a very active contribution to support our community.

While I was acutely aware of his level of commitment, Tim would have been completely unaware of the respect he commanded, indeed, I am overwhelmed by the hundreds of tributes that have continued to arrive following his death.

It is wonderful to know that his work was appreciated and his friendship valued – thank you all very much.

CRIME

Police warning on car crimes

RESIDENTS are being warned to be on the alert after a series of vehicle crimes.

The crimes range from items stolen from vehicles to words scratched into paintwork.

Police would like to hear from anyone who knows anything about an incident in Wrattling Road, Great Thurlow, between 10pm, on Friday, January 22 and 5.30am on Saturday, January 23.

A green Landrover Defender 90, index mark RF55 DJK, had its main live lead cut, its alarm deactivated and its steering column tampered with.

The next incident took place in the days leading up to Thursday, January 28, when a grey Peugeot in Haverhill's Snowdon Court had "offensive words" scratched into its bonnet.

This was followed by a theft from a van overnight between January 28 and Friday, January 29, in the same road. A white Ford Transit van parked in Snowdon Court had power tools stolen from inside. The tools included a blow torch, drills and cabling.

HANNAH MIRSKY

The evening of January 28 saw another car broken into in St Boltoph's Way, between 7pm and 8.15pm, when thieves gained entry to a grey Audi but did not take anything.

Meanwhile, over the weekend, a Volkswagen Polo parked in Haverhill's Cambridge Close had its wing mirror smashed.

The incident took place sometime between Saturday, January 30 and Sunday, January 31.

Police were not able to confirm whether any of these crimes were related.

They are advising residents to take precautions to keep their vehicles safe.

PCSO Steve Ridpath, of Haverhill police, said: "Make sure valuables aren't on show in your vehicle."

"With power tools, if possible, keep them somewhere other than the back of the van."

Other police advice includes making sure car windows are shut and doors are locked, even when leaving the vehicle for a short period, and parking somewhere well-lit and in public view, or using a garage if you have one.

You can contact Haverhill Police on 101, or by calling Crimestoppers, anonymously if required, on 0800 555 111.

COMMUNITY

Age UK's club for elderly folds

VENUE: The Burton Centre where the Fit As a Fiddle club was held
PICTURE: John Burns

A HEALTH and wellbeing club for older people in Haverhill has been closed.

The Age UK Fit as a Fiddle club held at the Burton Centre in Haverhill's Camps Road held its last session on January 25.

The group, which provided chair-based exercises, refreshments and table-top activities, was advertised as providing "fun, fitness and friendship". But an Age UK spokesperson said it had folded because those who attended it wanted it to be a social activity.

She said: "There had been a group at the centre and we had been trying to invigorate and revitalise it by bringing the focus around to wellbeing."

"The clients weren't really increasing and weren't coming to the group for wellbeing. What they actually seemed to want was a social activity, which wasn't what we wanted to deliver."

She explained that charities like Age UK are funded to provide a particular service, and cannot continue to run if they are not providing the service they received

HANNAH MIRSKY

The spokesperson continued: "We have worked with the clients and apparently what they have decided is that they are going to meet on a Monday at a local pub."

She added that another factor considered when shutting down the service was the cost of the room.

"There was a charge levied, which, along with us having to look at the model of the service, did have an impact, but it was not the sole reason."

The news comes as organisers of another service for older people in Haverhill, the Synergy Cafe for people with dementia run by Sue Ryder, are considering moving locations. The Cafe is currently held at the West End Congregational Church in Withersfield Road.

A spokesperson for Sue Ryder said that the move is still in the early stages and a new venue has not been confirmed, but it may be as far as five miles away, provided it is on a bus route and has parking available.

She said that although they had had a positive relationship with the West End Congregational Church, due to factors including heating and car parking, they were looking for a new venue.

Other clubs for older people in Haverhill are still running. One of them is the "Soup-A-Lunch" lunch club, where attendees get lunch and friendly chatter for just £3, at the Leiston Centre at 12pm on the second Tuesday of every month, which is supported by Age UK.

For more information about Soup-A-Lunch, contact organiser Joan Key on 01440 703 216.

For those who do want to stay fit, a Keep Active class for over-55s runs at Haverhill Leisure Centre on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Mondays. Call 01440 702548 to find out more.

BINOCULARS OUT: Residents at Care UK homes have been taking part in an RSPB birdwatch

Care home takes part in birdwatch

RESIDENTS at a Haverhill care home took part in the UK's biggest wildlife survey over the weekend.

Cleves Place care home in Millfields Way was one of a number of Care UK homes across Suffolk to take part in the RSPB's Big Garden Birdwatch on Saturday and Sunday. The birdwatch encourages people to count birds that visit their garden over the period of an hour.

Residents at Cleves Place have been putting up bird boxes and planting things in the garden of the home since it opened in March last year to encourage wildlife. They have also been making fat balls to provide birds with nourishment.

Home manager Sharlene

Van Tonder said: "Staying active and enjoying the outdoors can be extremely valuable for the residents, particularly those living with dementia. The RSPB Big Garden Birdwatch provides a great opportunity for residents to access outside spaces and reap the emotional, social and physical benefits this can bring."

LEISURE

Sports centres 'will not cope'

NEW sports facilities could be needed in Haverhill to cope with a growing population, according to a new report.

Existing indoor sports provision "will not cope with demand" and the town may need new swimming facilities, says sports planning consultants 4Global.

The report recommends St Edmundsbury Borough Council considers the future provision for swimming and sports halls in Haverhill 'given the age of the existing facility'.

The consultants also put forward a strategy for outdoor pitch provision including improved maintenance and new floodlights at Haverhill Rugby Club's Castle playing fields, and support for a planned 3G pitch at the New Croft in Chalkstone Way.

The report, commissioned in October 2014 by West Suffolk councils and just published, also takes into account current health issues in St Edmundsbury – 22 per cent of adults in the borough smoke and 24 per cent are obese – as well as the increasing population.

HANNAH MIRSKY

At least 4,000 homes are expected to be built in Haverhill by 2031, while 12,000 new homes are likely across the borough.

The report is set to be discussed at a meeting of the West Suffolk Joint Steering Group on Monday in Bury St Edmunds.

It is likely to be a crucial document in the creation of a 'West Suffolk Strategic Leisure Action Plan'.

The plan would seek to provide open spaces and leisure facilities to ensure everyone could get involved.

It would also incorporate projects currently being undertaken to improve leisure facilities. These include improvements to the pitch at the New Croft – funded by a £300,000 Premier League and FA Facilities Fund Grant – and developments such as a new leisure hub in Mildenhall.

The 4Global report is also set to be used as important evidence for a formal planning document to make sure new housing developments are balanced with facilities and infrastructure.

CHARITY

Charity seeks help and cash for Kenyan clinic

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

CHILDREN'S lives could be saved in Africa thanks to a health clinic being set up by a Haverhill-based charity.

Focus on Africa is a local organisation which provides practical aid to people in Kisumu, the third largest city in Kenya.

The charity was set up in 2002 by Balsham milkman Peter Plumb and after his death was taken over by his son-in-law, Brian Boltwood, of Kitten Close, Haverhill.

Now the trustees are looking for volunteers and donations to help raise £30,000 to set up the potentially life-saving clinic.

The charity has purchased the land and is hoping to get planning permission for the clinic to start construction in the coming weeks.

Mr Boltwood says that while many Kenyan healthcare providers turn away those who cannot pay for treatment, the clinic will not turn anyone away.

The cost of drugs – the healthcare staff will be funded by the charity –

AID WORK: Children in Kisumu who have been helped by previous Focus on Africa projects

would be paid back in manageable instalments.

Mr Boltwood estimated that hundreds of people from the area outside Kisumu could end up using the clinic.

He said: "Hopefully, this will start saving lives. A lot of children die due to malaria and this is because they can't afford medication."

He said that he had already seen children treated for malaria at the temporary clinic set up until the new facilities are built.

The clinic will be staffed by a qualified doctor, nurse and mid-wife, and will provide general medical and maternity care as well as malaria treatment.

Although the plans are well under way and £10,000 has already been raised for the clinic, the charity needs to continue fundraising.

Mr Boltwood, who runs Haverhill boiler and heating company Havtech, said: "It's having people on board who can actually raise money with some great ideas."

"What we need is £30,000. It isn't a big fish if you think about what other charities raise, but it's hard work."

"It's something that we want to continue with once the clinic's actually built, so we can keep going and improve it."

The charity already holds fundraising events throughout the year in Haverhill and the surrounding area, including a charity gala at Sturmer Halls in the summer.

The charity is currently run by six people and is looking for more volunteers to fundraise and join the board of trustees.

COURT

Ebay fraudster spared prison

A MAN from Haverhill who sold unsafe generators on eBay has avoided jail.

Yacuba Ibrahim, 40, of Chantry Road, pleaded guilty at Ipswich Crown Court to selling unsafe goods and not carrying out a product recall on unsafe products after an investigation by Suffolk Trading Standards.

Ibrahim was given a five month suspended prison sentence and was ordered to pay £4,800 costs. He was also ordered to forfeit all remaining products.

Judge John Devaux said: "This case concerns the safety of consumers to which you paid scant regard."

The court was told Trading Standards officers were alerted after a member of the public got in touch to "question the authenticity" of the generators Ibrahim was selling – which he claimed were from Honda – on eBay.

@NatalieR_CN

They spoke to a trade mark representative for Honda who confirmed the product wasn't manufactured by them.

In May 2014, a warrant was issued by magistrates to allow Trading Standards to seize the goods.

Two different brands of generators and some power tools were seized and tested and found to be unsafe.

Ibrahim was then served a notice which required him to recall the unsafe generators, which he failed to do.

He was also unable to supply information or technical files to clarify whether the goods had been through safety procedures.

Councillor Sarah Stamp, cabinet member for communities, said after the court case the Trading Standards team worked tirelessly to make sure businesses complied with safety regulation.

She said: "It is completely unacceptable for businesses to supply equipment which puts consumers at risk.

"In this case, Trading Standards had to intervene and carry out a product safety recall on the generators after they were tested and failed. This is the responsibility of the supplier, which is one of the reasons formal action was taken in this case.

"Retailers have a duty to supply compliant products but also take action to protect consumers if a problem is found."

If you suspect someone is selling unsafe goods, call Trading Standards on 03454 040506.

Love IS IN THE AIR

Sunday 14th February
Make it perfect

Don't forget Henderson's for your gifts this Valentine's

We have a wide selection of Valentines Cards, a variety of gift bags, chocolates and a lovely selection of Boofle Valentines gifts.

Henderson's Newsagents
40 High Street, Haverhill

Ten tips on getting it right on Valentine's

1. Got a date? Dress well

Putting a little effort into your style won't go unnoticed.

2. Don't be tempted to stay in
Make sure you're not hiding away in the corner or lingering by the buffet all evening – be approachable.

3. Be proactive

If you do decide to stay at home, why not update your dating profile?

4. Get a little help from your friends

Since mysinglefriend.com is all about involving your friends, we allow your friends to recommend people to you they think you should be dating.

5. Mix it up

Try dating someone who is not your usual type. Usually go for sporty guys, try dating a creative type. Like blondes?

HEARTY: You'll never know till you've tried!

Bag a brunette. You might surprise yourself!

6. Turn up the heat

A little bit of harmless flirting is good for the soul, so have fun. If you've been chatting to someone for a while, bite the bullet and ask them for a date.

7. Think sweetness and light

Compliment your date; a little bit of flattery will go a long way. Focus on a particular feature to make it more personal. Just keep it clean, folks!

8. Experiment

When it comes to dating, variety is key. Don't stick the same bar or restaurant. Try something a little more adventurous to make your date really fly. Explore the city on bikes, or go rock climbing?

9. If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again

So your date was a disaster? Don't give up! There's plenty more fish in the sea. Dissecting a hilariously bad date with a friend over a glass of wine could be the most fun you'll ever have.

10. Get stuck in...

The dating world can seem a little bit daunting. But there is nothing to be scared of. Once you get going, you'll wonder what you were ever worrying about.

Boogie back to the 1970s

ARE you missing the groovy 1970s? Dying to succumb to disco fever and get down on the dancefloor? This Saturday will be the night you've been waiting for.

Having stormed Haverhill's Market Square last summer Uncle Funk and the Boogiewonderband are back in town for another disco extravaganza this weekend.

The band promise to play all the best disco hits of the seventies, the ones guaranteed to get you strutting your funky stuff on the dance floor.

Expect numbers by Diana Ross, Earth Wind & Fire, Chaka Khan and the Bee Gees as well as more recent toe-tapping tunes like Bruno Mars' Uptown Funk and Daft Punk's Get Lucky.

The groovy disco band – who have played across the country at festivals including Glastonbury 2015 – are set to keep you strutting your stuff with their own slick dance moves.

Boogie on down to the Arts Centre for an 8.00pm start.

The more outlandish your outfit the better as there's a prize for the best fancy dress!

Tickets are £15.00 and available from www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or the Box Office on 01440 714140.

■ Thursday, February 4 – Friday, February 12

■ Step inside and help the arts centre celebrate the songs and stories of the big four British female divas of the swinging sixties, Cilla Black, Dusty Springfield, Lulu and Sandie Shaw, tomorrow at 7.30pm in THE 60s BRITPOP GIRL SHOW. Supported by an acclaimed live band, Helen Abbey sings classic hits including Step Inside Love, Son of a Preacher Man, Shout and Alfie. Go along and re-live the talents of the original proponents of girl power!

■ Uncle Funk & the Boogie Wonderband are back in town with LADIES' NIGHT (gents welcome too!) on Saturday, February 6. Having taken Haverhill by storm in the summer in the Market Square, the UK's favourite disco band return to play a full two-hour set packed with disco classics. Get your gladrags on for an 8pm start and expect wild dancing, amazing outfits and a packed dance floor all night long. There's bubbly for the best fancy dress, boogie on down.

■ Join the arts centre for an NT Live recorded broadcast from the Donmar Warehouse of LES LIAISONS DANGEREUSES on Thursday, February 11, at 7pm. Former lovers, the Marquise de Merteuil and Vicomte de Valmont compete in a game of seduction and revenge. Merteuil incites Valmont to corrupt the innocent Cecile but Valmont has targeted the peerlessly virtuous Madame de Tourvel. With Janet McTeer and Dominic West, word is you will not be disappointed.

■ Unfortunately, due to problems beyond control WITH LOVE FROM ... SUFFOLK will not be shown on Friday, February 12. The regional release of the film is now planned for later this summer; if possible the arts centre may screen it later this year.

■ On the cinema front, the arts centre has an autism-friendly screening of The Peanuts Movie (U) on today at 10am. Life always seems complicated for good ol' Charlie Brown, the boy who tries his best against seemingly impossible odds but when the Little Red-Haired Girl moves into his neighbourhood, things are on the up. James Bond flexes his pecs for a second screening of Spectre (12A) today at 7.30pm. If you missed Brooklyn (12A), based on Colm Tóibín's much-loved book in January, you can catch a second screening on Tuesday, February 9, at 7.30pm. Sunset Song (12A), an exquisite treatment of Lewis Grassic-Gibson's 1932 novel is showing on Wednesday, February 10, at 7.30pm. In pre-war rural Scotland, Chris Guthrie is a young woman with plans but family life has its own pull, particularly her formidable and religious father. As the lives of her family shift around her and romance comes calling, Chris grows into womanhood just as the First World War begins to devastate a generation. And finally, due to a run of full houses, we have further screenings of The Lady in the Van (12A) on Thursday, February 11, at 1.30pm, and Saturday, February 20, and Friday, April 1, at 7.30pm. Just in case you haven't heard, Alan Bennett befriends an elderly homeless woman called Mary Shepherd and lets her live in a van on his driveway, in what he believes will be a short-term arrangement! Maggie Smith stars as the irascible Mrs Shepard, along with Alex Jennings, Frances de la Tour and Jim Broadbent.

FILM: Sunset Song on Wednesday, February 10

■ Up and coming events to look forward to include 60s Night with The Dreamers and Sounds Force Five on Wednesday, February 17, at 8pm and The TestostaTones – the story of doo-wop and the best songs of the 1950s on Friday, February 19, at 7.30pm.

Audi A4 is top leasing car, Fiat 500 top city car

APPRECIABLY more accomplished, significantly more intelligent and now multi-award winning – the widely lauded Audi A4 has added the top Car of the Year accolade in the Contract Hire and Leasing Awards for 2015 to its already impressive cache of honours.

The all-new compact executive star also secured the Compact Executive Car category award as part of the annual review of star cars conducted by respected UK car finance site ContractHireandLeasing.com.

Citing its 'sharp looks, improved driving dynamics, greater efficiency', and in particular applauding the 'stunning' Virtual Cockpit, the judges added: "The A4 has what it takes to edge ahead of its incredibly talented rivals. In this competitive segment, praise doesn't come any higher."

"The A4's success was ensured by its strong residuals and appealing lease deals."

The new A4 continues a legacy that can be traced back as far as the Audi 80, which laid the groundwork for the brand's reputation for exceptional quality and solidity, as well as its rise to prominence in the UK premium segment.

Since then, consistent technological breakthroughs and advances in refinement have characterised the Audi best-seller. This all-new model is the greatest example of Vorsprung durch Technik yet, underscored by a vast array of driver assistance and safety systems, intelligent construction methods and infotainment options that are benchmark in the class.

Katie Purcell, Audi UK Product

Manager for A4, commented: "To put it simply, everything about the A4 is new except the name, so it is enormously gratifying to see the exceptional effort a ground-up redesign like this entails being acknowledged by important awards like these. The fact that our wins are also based on the strength of the A4's accessibility from a financial perspective makes them all the more valued."

Available to order now with a combination of TFSI and TDI engines that break new ground in terms of sophistication, performance and running costs, the latest A4 saloon can also be specified with a raft of innovative options, from Matrix LED headlights to Audi traffic jam assist and a Bang & Olufsen 3D sound system, making this the most technologically advanced Audi saloon to date. Prices start from £25,900 for the 150PS 1.4 TFSI six-speed manual, rising to £40,350 for the 272PS V6 TDI Avant with quattro and eight-speed tiptronic transmission.

TESTING: DIY checks are priority

Half of MOT faults are easy to avoid

NEARLY half of all MOT faults could be avoided if drivers carry out simple checks on their vehicles, the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency (DVSA) has said.

Latest testing data for Great Britain shows that 30 per cent of all faults recorded in 2014/15 were related to lighting and signalling, with a further 10 per cent due to tyres and 8.5 per cent to the "driver's view of the road".

Some 38 per cent of the 28 million MOTs carried out last year resulted in an initial fail for reasons such as blown bulbs.

The DVSA is encouraging motorists to avoid the cost of a retest by carrying out regular checks on their vehicles.

Cars must have an MOT every year once they are three years old.

Paffett gets new F1 role at Williams

Motorsport

GARY Paffett is looking forward to getting started in his new role after being confirmed as Williams' simulator driver for 2016.

The Haverhill driver (pictured right), who has previous Formula One experience from his time as test driver for McLaren, will assist the Grove-based team in developing their car for the coming season.

His role will see him working with Williams' vehicle sciences department, and the 34-year-old is excited by the opportunity.

"I am really pleased to be joining the Williams team as the simulator driver to aid in the development of this year's car," said Paffett.

"The team has such a great pedigree and history in Formula One. I look forward to supporting the team over this year in my new role."

Paffett racked up 72 official F1 test days during his 12 years with McLaren, alongside his commitments racing in the DTM.

And Williams team principal Claire Williams believes he will be a huge asset to the organisation.

"We're delighted to have someone with Gary's experience join us at Williams," said Williams.

"He is a highly professional racing driver and his level of testing knowledge, and ability to analyse data, will significantly help to drive forward development of the FW38 throughout the season."

CELEBRATION: Matt Staines got Haverhill Borough's second goal against Diss Town
Picture: Gary Brown

Staines leads the way in win

MATT Staines scored one and set one up as Haverhill Borough beat Diss Town 2-1 in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division.

After creating a number of early chances, the hosts took the lead in the 26th minute when Staines broke down the left and fed Rory Bone, who applied the finish.

Diss started the second half the brighter of the two sides, but it was Borough who got the next goal.

It came when they were awarded a free kick on the edge of the box, which was quickly taken by Staines.

Diss protested about the award of the goal, having not got their defence set, but the referee was unmoved by the protests and allowed it to stand.

The visitors got one back just after the hour, but Borough held out to secure the win.

Ryan Swallow was then on target as Borough had to make do with a 1-1 draw at home to Dereham reserves on Tuesday night.

After a goalless first half, Swallow struck around the hour to put Borough in front, only for the visitors to level 15 minutes from time.

Haverhill Rovers' game at Godmanchester last Saturday was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch.

Division Two was won by Mick Dalena on 35, with David Roope second on 30 and Martin Mansfield one point behind him in third.

Ian Andrews was victorious in Division Three on 32, one point ahead of second-placed Peter Young. Colin Smith took third on countback.

Andy Tabrar had the edge in the men's January stableford, taking victory by just one point with 38.

The score was good enough to see him win Division Two as well, with Glen Hughes second on 37 and Tom Harrison taking third on countback with 35.

Division One was won by Paul Bartlett on 37, with Mark Barrett second on 36 and Daniels third on 35.

Peter Young took top honours in Division Three on 35, with Chris Gavin four points behind in second and Chris Powell third on 29.

Haverhill ladies were edged out 3-2 away to Gosfield in the Mail on Sunday National Golf Club Classic.

Lyn Fish lost 2&1 to Mel Ponsonby, Fiona Stokes won one up against Georgina Penketh, Alice Iron lost by one to Jackie Henley, Mandy Williamson won 5&3 against Debbie Eames and Mary Sail lost 2&1 to Jenny Starr.

Meanwhile, the men were beaten 4-1 at home to Saffron Walden.
